SWANN, DOOLING SUED BY MEANS FOR $1,000,000

Charges Prosecutor and Assistant With Conspiracy in Murder Trial.

BRIBERY IS ALLEGED.
Asserts Northern Trust Money Was Used to Corrupt Witnesses.

Col. Thomas B. Feider, as counsel for Gaston B. Means, filed suit in the Federal District Court today against District Attorney Edward Swann and Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling for $1,000,000 damages, charging that the defendants entered into a conspiracy with attorneys and officers of the Northern Trust Company of Chicago to "bribe and corrupt witnesses" to testify falsely against the plaintiff in his trial for the murder of Mrs. Maud A. Robinson King, widow of James C. King of Chicago, and to defeat the probate of the alleged last will of King.

The complaint charges that "Swann and Dooling devised a plan to bribe witnesses with money furnished by the Northern Trust Company, the object being to convict Means of murder, have him executed or incarcerated, or, failing that, to bring about an atmosphere to totally discredit Means as a witness in the trial of the probate of the last King will in Chicago."

Swann and Dooling are charged with being confederates of Alexander F. Reichman, counsel for the Northern Trust Company; William S. Miller, Solomon Smith and Bruce Smith, officers of the company, and C. B. Ambrose. The District Attorney and his assistant are accused of seizing Means's $25,000 bank account "thinking to prevent his using the money to defend himself."

"Every charge in the complaint is substantiated," said Mr. Feider, "by letters and documents, and we have a complete history of every instruction given by the officers of the Northern Trust Company and their attorney to the defendants."

"I listened to Mr. Means for months and months and came to the conclusion that he needed a guardian. But after going over his case and examining the original letters which he in some manner obtained from the personal files of the District Attorney's office, I was amazed and of course realized that he had a most just cause and that the conspirators had gone to this most unheard of lengths to put him beyond being a witness in the probate of the last King will."

Maud A. Robinson King, widow of James C. King of Chicago, inherited $100,000 from his estate under the so-called first will. But she elected to

CONVICTS ESCAPE ON WILD COAL CAR

Send It Crashing Through Prison Gate—One Gets Away—Two Recaptured.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 14.—One prisoner was at liberty today and two others serving life sentences were back within the Missouri State Prison walls after a thrilling attempt to escape in which the three climbed on a coal car and sent it crashing down an incline through the prison gate. The car overturned outside the wall and John Sneed, sentenced to life imprisonment for murder, was captured immediately. Ora Lewis, sentenced to life imprisonment for murder and robbery, abandoned the car just before it hit the gate and was returned to his cell. William Stender, serving term for robbery, got away. The men had made keys for their cell doors and escaped from the inner confines yesterday after choking the cell guard into unconsciousness.

NOMINATION OF HARDING MAKES OHIO BATTLE GROUND OF PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Gov. Cox on a Wet Plank Is a Democratic Forecast—Old Guard Used Lowden as a Blind in Shrewd Game For Naming of Ohio Man.

By Martin Green.
(Special Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)
CHICAGO, June 14.—The last of the delegates has departed and there remain in Chicago only a few gentlemen who are busily engaged in paying bills incurred in the inflation of booms which blew up just as they appeared to be about to float. A lot of sour money has changed hands in Chicago since Saturday afternoon—money carrying the marks of disappointment and chagrin—Wood money and Lowden money and Johnson money.

What Harding money changed hands was paid over joyously. The Harding campaign didn't cost much as campaigns go in these times. Never has there been a campaign carried on more unobtrusively or more effectively. Most of the correspondents who covered the convention do not remember the names of the men who handled the manipulation of Harding. Few correspondents visited the Harding headquarters save in a perfunctory way.

Many Republican politicians believe that the nomination of Senator Harding will force the Democrats to nominate Gov. Cox of Ohio. Gov. Cox is a "wet" and could run on a platform advocating modification of the Volstead act, and he is very popular in Ohio, and the candidate who wins will need Ohio. However, the prospect of a fight between Senator Harding and Gov. Cox does not worry the trained Ohio politicians, who took their first lessons in writing when boys by making cross marks in squares under pictures of eagles.

A week ago the Harding boom appeared to be ready for the embalmers. Nobody paid any attention to it except the few who knew the truth—that it, in the course of events, it would be deemed inadvisable to nominate Lowden, who is the type of candidate the reactionary Republican leaders want—Harding would be sent over the top to lead the campaign for the Presidency.

Ohio is the mother of Presidents and the mother of noisier politicians. The Ohio candidate came in on rubber boots and rubber soles. Not until Friday afternoon did observers begin to see that, after all, Harding was but another Lowden—a figure representing everything Lowden stood for—and that the Lowden strength, which was sufficient to nominate at any time had the bones of the convention chosen to utilize it, was Harding's strength too. The story of the convention can be told in two lines:

The bosses had two candidates, Lowden and Harding. When Lowden had accomplished his job of killing off Wood by forcing the general to call out, on the sixth ballot, his last reserves, all the bosses had to do was to shift Lowden delegates to Harding, said delegates being equally strong for either. Much has been written about this convention having been leaderless and

NEW CARUSO THEFT CAUSES REAL WOE; CELLAR IS ROBBED

Private Stock of Whiskies and Wines Badly Dented, but There's Some Left.

GO DIGGING FOR GEMS.
Detectives Still Hunting for Cache on Estate, but Dream Clue Fails.

Although Enrico Caruso showed no great concern over the loss of a mere $500,000 in jewels, it is expected that on his return to the Caruso summer home in East Hampton L. I., his artistic blood will boil when he learns that a dent has been made in his "dry-time" cellar stock, including high-proof whiskies, precious brandies and rare wines.

Mystery covers the disappearance, but it is understood to have been in recent weeks. The dearth, while great, is not sufficient to ruin Caruso's future as an entertainer, it is said, but it is regarded as likely that he will have to impose certain restrictions in order to ease the supply over what now seems a long period of aridity for Americans.

Mrs. Caruso this morning left her home for the first time since the jewel theft. She went to East Hampton's telephone office where she received a message from Mr. Caruso in Havana. The tenor told her not to worry about his bomb adventures. He said he was unhurt. She replied saying she thanked God that her "Ricci" was safe.

Five "star" detectives started work this morning on the jewel theft. Equipped with picks and shovels they are digging about the large estate trying to locate the gems that some of them still believe are hidden there.

One tip which furnished them some hope came from a Philadelphia woman. She said she had dreamed just where the jewels were hidden. She sent a description of the cache as disclosed in the dream. A search was made of a spot which corresponded with her dream, but none could be found.

CARUSO UNINJURED AS BOMB EXPLODES AT HAVANA OPERA

Blast Causes Panic in Which Scores in Audience Are Trampled On.

HAVANA, June 14.—Several members of the chorus and a number of persons in the audience were injured. One of them seriously, when a bomb was exploded during a performance at the National Theatre here. The explosion occurred in the early part of the second act of the opera "Aida," shortly before Enrico Caruso was due to appear for his last performance here.

The bomb was placed in the washroom of the gallery and it wrecked the acoustic box, three walls of the washroom and some of the scenery crashed on the stage.

Caruso was in his dressing room at the time the bomb exploded. The police, except that seats were selling at a premium and the public had little opportunity to see Caruso, who is a hero here. Anonymous letters received by the management protested against the prices, from $25 up. It was a popular matinee, and the bomb was taken as a demonstration, not against Caruso and the opera performers, but against the management.

The explosion set the theatre in a tumult. Scores were trampled in the panic, the gallery audience plunged down stairways to the streets and many emerged with bloody faces and clothes torn to shreds.
